America's Finest

White clapboard houses. GOLDEN RETRIEVERS bounding across manicured lawns. Obscenely attractive families with blindingly white teeth. No, this is not a Ralph Lauren campaign. This is real life. At least in CAPE COD, NANTUCKET, and MARTHA'S VINEYARD – three quintessential American SUMMER destinations.

These little blue-blooded ISLANDS off the coast of Massachusetts are widely known for their country club etiquette and resolute acceptance of madras plaid. After all, the Kennedys were practically an institution on Cape Cod, and it's very possible that Nantucket is keeping the white WINE SPRITZER alive. It's a storybook WASP existence, and we can't get enough of it.

So pack your Hilfiger-clad family into your Land Rover and head out for a weekend of old-fashioned American fun, including COASTAL BIKE RIDES, clambakes, and Chardonnay by sunset. Be sure to swing by the Lobster Claw for a fresh boiled lobster with plenty of drawn butter, and top it off with ricotta panna cotta at Sweet Life Café. Out here, it's a SWEET LIFE indeed.
